SCHOOL BOARD IS CONTEMPLATING ISSUE OF BONDS

Necessary to Take Care of Expenses Incurred in Building.

Voters Will Have Much to Think of Election Day.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY ALSO

Voters in next November's election will have to devote more time to their duty, owing to the multiplicity of candidates and questions than in any election in years in Paducah. In addition to the presidential election, there will be the Democratic county primary, and the city school board is contemplating a call for a vote on bonds for school buildings, which will further add to the voters' duties.

Finances in the schools have gotten to the point where only a bond issue will avail anything. Each year the running of the schools takes up all the revenue from the city and state, leaving nothing for providing new facilities. Even now there are 2,200 children of school age in Paducah, who do not attend school, and if the state truancy law and child labor law should be rigidly enforced, the schools would be congested.

Of these 2,200 children out of school, more than 50 per cent are white. This fact will be startling to some, but it is true, and was commented upon in the state federation of women's clubs meeting here last week by Mr. E. N. Clapper, of the National Child Labor association. The new buildings and some of the old ones could accommodate several hundred more children, but not nearly all of the number that might apply. Each year sees an increase in the school population without a corresponding increase in facilities. But buildings are not the only things needed to handle this additional number, if they should be brought into the schools as an increase in teaching force would be necessitated that would add to the running expenses. The revenue of the school is annually about $51,000.

The debt of the schools now is $18,000, but the board would call for a bond issue of $50,000, in all probability, as it would be poor finance to ask for just enough to get them out of debt. The Lee school building, Fourth and Ohio streets, should be rebuilt and a new building near or beyond Fountain avenue will be needed in a year or two.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Henderson, Ky., June 10.—Company B, the Henderson organization of the Kentucky State Guard, has received orders to proceed to Murray, Callaway county, on Friday afternoon and report for guard duty. Forty members of the local company are ordered to go and they will all respond. They expect to remain on duty in the night rider county for 30 days. They are anxious to go, as they believe the active service will be very beneficial. Captain E. C. Walker is directing his company night. Captain Hughes, U. S. A., retired, will inspect the local men Thursday evening.

Rush to Climb on Taft Band Wagon Has Begun, Though Allies Hope to Have Voice in Vice-Presidency

They Concede Secretary Sixty More Than Sufficient to Nominate Him and He Will Receive Hundred More Votes.

Chicago, June 10.—The anti-conceder Taft will have 551 votes, 60 more than needed. He gained 92 on the contests and it is believed the national committee will seat 100 Taft men in the remaining 133 contests. The rush to the Taft band wagon has begun. Anti's are trying to control the vice-presidential nomination. Congressman Sherman, of New York, is regarded as a likely selection.

The committee unseated the Hughes men in the Eleventh and Twelfth Missouri districts and decided the Taft delegates were regular. The North Carolina contests were considered and Taft men for delegates at large were seated. Seven district contests are pending in Ohio. The contestants from the Third, Sixth, Tenth and Thirteenth Ohio arrived and expect a hearing this afternoon. Defeat seems certain for Congressman Burke, Knox's manager, who is trying to induce the anti's to fight for representation to the national convention based on the vote cast for president. He wants one delegate for each 10,000 votes. This would reduce the south's vote and rob it of the balance of power. A boom for Hitchcock for vice president was started. He issued a statement, denying that he is a candidate for vice president, national chairman or any position.

Two Stories Told.

Robert White and Arthur Dunn were taken to the city hall this afternoon for the investigation of an alleged fight on South Second street this afternoon. Dunn alleges that White had a beer bottle drawn on him when someone yelled a warning, and he whirled and knocked White to the floor. White's story is that Dunn struck him in the back of the head without cause. The trouble will be aired in police court tomorrow morning.

Exiles Appreciate Guest Book.

A chapter in the visit of the Paducah delegation to New Orleans to present the silver service to the gunboat Paducah, that never before has been published, came to light today, when City Auditor Alex Kirkland received a letter thanking the Paducah delegation for a handsome guest book presented to the Kentucky society of New Orleans. The letter was accompanied with a poem, entitled "A Greeting From the Exiles." On their return the delegates considered some happy way of expressing their appreciation of their treatment while in New Orleans, that would be a lasting memorial, and the idea of a guest book for the club was decided on. All the delegates wrote their names in the book and forwarded it to the club.

A GREETING FROM THE EXILES.

(AIR: "Rosin, the Bean.")
The river brings the soil of Kentucky
And lays it down here at our feet.
Reminding the exiled Kentuckian
Of "The Country That God Made,"
So sweet.

And with it it brings the good wishes
And love of our brothers at home.
That are sweet to the one who has wandered
Wherever he chances to roam.

And we look on the river that's rolling,
And we think that that water first fell
On the hills and the dales of Kentucky.
The State that we all love so well.

And the wind that blows up from the Southland
Bears back on its wings to you too
The love and good wishes we exiles
Forever will cherish for you.

And we gaze on the sun shining brightly,
With yearnings for the land we once knew,
And we think that that sun is now shining
On "The Country That God Made,"
for true.

FUNERAL AND BAPTISM.

Mayfield, Ky., June 10.—An unusual scene was enacted Sunday at Farmington immediately after the funeral of Connie Adair, the young man who died in Temple, Oklahoma, and was brought back to this county for burial. The Rev. H. N. Oliver, of Calloway county, a Primitive Baptist minister, conducted the funeral and W. T. Adair, the father, confessed religion and was baptized into that church immediately after the funeral. Fully 3,000 people were present.

WORST EXPECTED AT KANSAS CITY FROM MISSOURI

BANKERS WILL PLAY BALL AGAINST ELKS AND OTHERS.

Bank clerks have gotten the baseball fever, that is rapidly spreading over the lodges and business district, and will organize a team to play the Elks and possibly the Chess, Checker and Whist club. In the seven banks in the city enough young men can be found to make a nine. The Bankers' team will include: Warren Sights, John Brooks, Sam Hughes, Jr., Guy Martin, Harry Singleton, Will Rink, Jeff. Witt Wright and others.

And that rain, sun and wind and that soil
And the labor our brothers put forth
Clothe the hills of Kentucky with corn blades,
And they garner the fruits of the earth.

With the skill of the alchemist
That corn they transmute in its form,
And, liquid and sparkling, it glistens,
The heart of the exile to warm.

Spirit true of Kentucky! We greet you.
You bring recollections of home,
As bright as the eyes of her women,
None fairer wherever we roam.

As warm as the heart of Kentucky,
As strong as the will of her sons,
As pure as the souls of her daughters,
As sweet as her waters it runs.

And so in the juice of the corn grains
We drink to the health of you all,
"Kentucky! Her sons and her daughters!"
"Our Mother! We come when you call."

SLEEPING TRACK WALKER CRUSHED TO DEATH ON RAIL

Will Jones' Body Found on Illinois Central Right of Way at Krebs.

Killed Sometime Between Midnight and 6 O'clock.

NO ONE WITNESSED ACCIDENT

While sitting on the railroad track asleep, Will Jones, 25 years old, a colored track walker for the Illinois Central railroad, was killed by a railroad train some time between midnight and 6 o'clock this morning, when his body was discovered lying near the railroad track about three and a half miles from Paducah. The train had struck Jones' head, and the right side was crushed and his brains scattered on the railroad ties. The only clue is that Jones became sleepy and sat down on the track to rest a minute, when he fell asleep and was struck by a train. It is not known which train struck him as several passed last night. At midnight Jones reported to the operator at Krebs and complained of being sleepy, and said he would like to sleep the rest of the night. After walking towards Paducah a mile it is the supposition that Jones went to sleep.

Jones boarded at Krebs, but had lived in Paducah. He had been employed by the railroad for some time. He has a sister living in Paducah. His body will be taken to Pysburg this afternoon at 4 o'clock for burial. Coroner Frank Eaker and Deputy Jailor Harvey Martin went to Krebs and held the inquest. A verdict read that Jones came to his death by being struck by an Illinois Central train, and placed the responsibility on no one.

DAN JONES' DEATH RECALLS MURDER ON MURRAY STREET

Murray, Ky., June 10. (Special.)—Information was received here today that Dan Jones, who shot and killed Joel Ferguson on the streets of Murray 25 years ago, is dead at a town in Florida and his body will be brought here for burial. Mr. Jones was a member of one of the most prominent families in Calloway county and the killing of Mr. Ferguson, who was chief of police at Murray, and also prominent, is remembered by all the older residents of this and adjoining counties. After the killing Jones made his escape and was never captured. He stopped in several different places and finally settled in a Florida town where he was undisturbed by officers and is said to have accumulated quite a sum of money in the mercantile business. During all the trials of his eventful life he had the strong support of a large number of friends and a devoted family. He was about 60 years old. The immediate cause of his death is not known, but supposed to have been asthma, with which he was afflicted. He leaves a family of several children, his wife having died several years ago.

SENATOR GORE, OF OKLAHOMA, SEES OBJECTS DIMLY

Washington, June 10.—For the first time in twenty-seven years, Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, was able to distinguish an object, when today for a brief period of thirty seconds, he could see his cuff with his left eye. For the past week the senator has been receiving treatment at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat hospital in this city. If further improvement is shown, it may be unnecessary to operate on the senator's eye, as has been the intention. Senator Gore is now more hopeful of regaining the use of at least one eye.

OLD SEEDS.

Seeds that have not felt the nourishment of mother earth for 24 years are growing in the yard of City Jailor Wade Brown, and from a dozen seeds sown there are 12 small plants. The seeds were secured in Baton Rouge, La., in 1884 by Captain Brown, and since then have been kept in a bottle. Recently the beans were discovered, and planted in the soil. In the average time the plants popped out of the earth despite their sleep of 24 years, and promise to make as fine plants as new seed.

Porch Thieves Busy.

Porch thieves are getting reckless in their operations, as daylight does not seem to hold them in check. The Rev. G. T. Sullivan, 109 North Seventh street, had a fine rug stolen from his front porch this morning at 6 o'clock. He has missed some tools also in the last few days. The rug had been left on the porch a few minutes when it was missed.

LIGHTNING BOLT MAY PROVE FATAL TO J. A. BRANTLEY

Recovery seems doubtful for J. A. Brantley, 631 George street, who was brought to the city last evening at 6 o'clock from Morganfield, where he was struck by lightning late Monday afternoon. No burns are visible on his body, but he feels acute pains in his chest and at intervals grows wild from them. Brantley, who is a bridge builder, 47 years old, was building a road bridge four miles west of Morganfield Monday afternoon, when a storm drove him to shelter. He got under an oak tree to escape the rain and a bolt of lightning ran down the tree into his back and shoulders. Two companions were shocked by the same stroke, but Brantley lay on the ground apparently dead. After working with him for an hour, he revived somewhat but was unconscious for several hours longer. At his home on George street today he was reported to be still in a serious condition.

ROCHEFORT SAYS HE COULD SOLVE STEINHEIL CASE.

He Makes Sensational Insinuations
Against the Government in Editorial Article.

Paris, June 10.—Henri Rochefort, the editor of the Patrie, whose bitter enmity to the Clemenceau government is well known, insinuates in the Patrie that the police do not desire to solve the mystery of the murder of Adolphe Steinheil, the noted painter, which occurred more than a week ago. Yet, he says, he could solve the mystery in an hour if permitted to do so. He insists that the alleged robbery of the Steinheil house never occurred.

"The government deceives itself," he continues, "if it imagines that this affair will die out. It attracts more interest than many sensational crimes. After the mysterious death of M. Felix Faure, the president of the Republic, on the day of the decree for the revision of the Dreyfus case was to have been presented and which he would have refused to sign, after the pretended suicide of M. Gabriel Syveton on the day before he would have been acquitted of assaulting War Minister Andre and now after the strangulation of Steinheil by three men and a woman, who did not carry away even a spoon, Parisians are menaced by a sort of mania."

"Let an individual have in his possession documents embarrassing to those in power, and next morning he may be found with a bullet in his head, a knife in his breast or a cord around his neck."

BIDS STILL HIGH FOR BITULITHIC

Board of Public Works Recommends With Disapproval.

Compelled By Law to Do So, Though Price is Considered Excessive.

OTHER MATTERS CONSIDERED

For the second time the board of public works will recommend to the general council that bitulithic be used for the reconstruction of Broadway and Jefferson street between Ninth and Eleventh streets, and that the Southern Bitulithic company be given the contract. It is doubtful whether the general council will make the contract, as the lowest bid offered yesterday afternoon was $25,210, which was only $310 cheaper than the company bid on the work before. The price is still much higher than for the work on Broadway, Kentucky avenue and Jefferson street, as instead of $2 a square yard the company wants $2.35 a square yard.

The other bids opened were: George W. Katterjohn, asphalt, $25,510; Thomas Bridges' Sons, brick, $26,624; asphalt, $27,324. Katterjohn did not bid on asphalt before, but the bid of Thomas Bridges' Sons on asphalt is $380 higher, while their bid on paving the streets with brick is $76 higher than the bids offered three weeks ago. If the contract should be let by the general council, Mr. Palmer McLester, the representative of the Southern Bitulithic company, said that the work would begin at once, and would be completed before fall. However, it is practically certain that the contract will not be made, and instead the streets will be temporarily improved with gravel.

The city charter says the board must recommend the lowest bid received on any work, and this will be done.

"Of course the council will turn all the bids down, in all probability," said President Richard Rudy. "We did not wish to recommend any of the bids, as we deem them all too high, and we thought we would merely refer them to the council boards for their consideration and disposition, but the law is plain on the subject and says we must recommend."

"We advertised for bids in all the trade journals, but the lowest bid is just two cents under the lowest bid when the work was first considered. We know work is being done elsewhere cheaper, yes, much cheaper than the bids we have in. Louisville, only a few days ago, turned down a bid for asphalt at $1.88 because the officials considered it too high. The amount of work to be done, too, was less than the amount here, yet compare the bids."

In the event the council rejects the bids, the board probably will improve the streets with gravel until some other arrangements have been made. Paducah's experience with these bids is but additional evidence of the ridiculous way in which all street improvements are made, and emphasizes the necessity of authority being secured to do all public improvement work as it is done in every progressive community, arrange so the contractors receive their pay as the work progresses, and not be compelled to wait months for their money.

Time Extended.
George W. Katterjohn, who is laying the concrete sidewalks on Tennessee and Ohio streets asked an extension of time for the work. The contract reads that the sidewalks on Tennessee and Ohio streets between Third and Twelfth streets and on South Eighth street shall be completed by July 1. The spring was cold and so much rain has fallen that Contractor Katterjohn finds it impossible to complete the job. The board agreed to extend the time until September 1. He has laid all of the sidewalks on the north side. The workmen have laid the sidewalk between Tenth and Eleventh streets, and Mr. Katterjohn believes he will complete the work in ten days.

L. A. Washington, city engineer, will have a hand railing placed on the culvert on Broadway over Bradshaw creek. The rails will cost about $2 each.

The old system of issuing a coupon for each load of gravel received by the city was adopted again, and will be put in force by Jeff J. Read, the street inspector. By keeping the stubs the city has a record of every load of gravel received, and where it was placed.

R. D. Barnett, a sanitary inspector, reported a long list of alleys in bad condition, but Street Inspector Jeff Read explained that the condition will be improved as soon as possible by the street department. Many of the alleys have been cleaned out and gravel used in the low places. City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., was directed to write out the contract with Thomas J. Sale for placing the gravel on the yard of the Riverside hospital. Also the contract will be written out between the city and J. Goulson, who will furnish the gravel. President Richard Rudy and Louis Kolb were present at the meeting yesterday afternoon.

PRETTY CUSTOM

OBSERVED BY W. C. T. U. OF PADUCAH YESTERDAY.

Flowers Scattered on Graves and Presented to Inmates of Hospitals and Other Places.

Glad surprise was brought to the hearts of many living persons yesterday, while the memories of some dead were honored by Flower Mission Day, observed by the Paducah Woman's Christian Temperance Union, June 9, the birthday of Jennie Casseday, the originator of the day. It is annually observed by this organization, as a time to carry flowers to the unfortunate living, as well as to spread them on the graves of the dead.

Members of the W. C. T. U. met in the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to make the large quantity of flowers donated by Schmaus Bros., Brunson and others into bouquets. White ribbons were tied about the bouquets, with a card which bore a scripture quotation on one side and the letters W. C. T. U. on the other side.

Riverside hospital was visited and flowers were distributed among the patients in the free wards, the county jail's 36 inmates were remembered and numerous sick and infirm persons. At Oak Grove cemetery flowers were placed on the graves of their departed members, friends of the cause and the graves of unknown dead.

GOVERNMENT REPORT

ON CROP CONDITIONS.
Washington, June 10.—A preliminary estimate of 17,710,000 acres of spring wheat sown, or 631,000 acres more than last year, and placing the condition on June 1 of winter wheat at 86 per cent against 77.4 per cent, a year ago, and of rye at 91.3 per cent, as against 93.5 per cent on May 1, is made in the June grain report made public at the department of agriculture.

The report estimates the acreage of oats at 31,644,000 and barley 6,697,000, and gives the condition figures for crops other than wheat as follows: Oats, 92.9 per cent; barley, 89.7 per cent.

The report gives the condition of spring wheat on June 1 as 95 per cent of a normal, as compared with 88.7 on June 1, 1907, and a ten-year average of 92.2.

HOLLY INDICTED WILFUL MURDER

Slayer of Reece Fisher Held on Capital Charge.

Night Rider Cases Passed to Accommodate Attorneys for Defense by Judge Reed.

HAS UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER

Henton, Ky., June 10.—(Special.)—The night rider prosecutions against prominent Marshall county farmers, which were set for trial in circuit court today, have been continued until next Monday on account of the absence of the defendant's attorney, W. A. Berry, who is attending the Democratic state convention at Lexington. Judge Reed has announced that unless there is good reason for a further continuance, he will take up the cases Monday and dispose of all at this term of court or at a special term to be called when the present term expires. There are no more regular terms of circuit court on the calendar for this district until September, and this affords the court ample time to try all cases ready.

Holly Indicted.
The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment, charging wilful murder against Lon Holly, who stabbed Reece Fisher to death, April 7. The case was immediately docketed for trial at this term, but the defendant will not be forced into trial unless he has his case prepared and is ready.

When the Nerves Cry

Look to the Coffee

The cry may be in some one of many ways, Trembling, Sleepy in the day time (comes from stomach), Headache, Dyspepsia, Bowel Trouble, Heart Palpitation, Pains in various parts of the body, and even Piles, Diabetes, and Weak Eyes originate in a disordered nervous system brought on by Coffee.

If you don't heed the cry (Nature's hint) you may be sure the trouble will get worse, and not better, until you either quit the coffee habit, which is the cause, or you develop fixed organic disease that may carry you down.

It is the finest trade possible, to quit coffee and get well.

Health is the most exquisite fun on earth.

It is easy to quit coffee when you have choice, well made Postum, a delicious hot beverage with the deep seal brown of strong coffee that changes to a rich golden brown when cream is added. They you have the crisp coffee "snap" and a flavour all its own. The nerves are relieved of the old hurt of the poisonous "Caffeine" of coffee and in its place you feed the system on strong food elements in Postum which quickly rebuild the worn out and exhausted nerve and brain cells destroyed by coffee.

These are facts. Prove them by 10 days' trial.

THE FAVORITE SON PRESIDENTIAL SERIES

Some Familiar Sketches By Washington Correspondent of the United Press.

Albany, N. Y., June 10.—Charles Evans Hughes is probably less of a politician than any other man in politics.

Politicians say he is an accident, the unnatural result of extraordinary circumstances. His admirers say he is a prophet of a new era in the political world. Every one who has been associated with him closely is certain of one fact—he is a man of outstanding individuality.

As governor of New York he has given the state an administration that is absolutely unique. It has not been wholly successful in the matter of accomplishment. He has worked alone, except for the aid of those who rallied to his assistance of their own accord. He never asks the aid of any man.

Old-timers at Albany, who admire the governor for his stand on all moral questions and who believe in most of his doctrines of right living, say:

"He is a great governor. He has given the state an administration on a high plane. But Odeil and Roosevelt did more for the people after all. They made the politicians do what they wanted them to do. They laid down the law to the legislature and the legislature usually obeyed. It is true that the preachers of the state did not agree with everything they did—but they got results."

Hughes considers the means fully as important as the end. His father was a Baptist preacher in Glens Falls, N. Y., and there is something of the Baptist and much of the Baptist layman in the governor today. A leaflet scattered about the legislature during the fight on the anti-race-track gambling bill, said of him:

"He is a preacher among politicians, a politician among preachers."

Systematic. He is the embodiment of system. He habitually looks before he leaps, and usually carefully measures the space and carefully estimates his leaping capacity in advance.

Much fun has been made of his conscience in comic papers and public speeches. It is no myth, either. The thing about Hughes that worries the politicians most of all is his placidity. He consults his conscience on every move and does what will satisfy it and then no matter what happens, he can say to himself:

"I have done the right thing. If others fail I cannot be blamed for their failure. I have done my full duty."

Hughes studied hard as a boy in school and has never stopped. He is now forty-six years old and in his mind are stored away the results of almost that many years' study, for he began to read almost as soon as he began to talk.

But there is another side to the man—the side that usually is not seen by the public. He has all the human emotions in a strong degree, but he has learned to control them and keep them in the background. No man is better company at a dinner and no man enters more enthusiastically into the spirit of a joke or an evening of pleasure, when the evening has been set aside for that purpose.

At dinners such as the "Ames Corner" annual affair in New York, or the dinner of the Legislative Correspondents' association at Albany, both of which are patterned after the Gridiron dinners in Washington, he enjoys all the fun that is poked at him and laughs loudest of all. He seems to revel in recreation of this sort, and the reason probably lies in the fact that he usually keeps his mind hard at serious work.

The very fact that he is unpopular with the politicians who have ruled New York so long has given Hughes much support—the support of a kind that surprised everybody. It came from men who usually are not heard from in public matters.

No man doubts his sincerity. No one has charged him with inordinate ambition. Many believe that he is the most popular man in the state and assert freely that few men ever were as popular with the people at large. But, they usually add, he does not take advantage of his opportunity.

The late John Vanderveer, president of the United Press, in an article on Hughes said:

"Some think Hughes at heart a Wall street lawyer—some say that he is a moral prig. The bulk of his really earnest popular support comes from the up-state 'hayseed' districts."

Where he ever made president, he probably would pursue the course he has as governor, that is, he would never take up a thing until he understood it thoroughly, and then push it through the calm insistent patience falling back always on the same "It's right" argument when anybody wanted to change his mind."

First Notice.

Hughes first sprang into public notice as counsel for the legislative committee in the gas investigation in New York in 1905. Then quickly followed the life insurance investigation in which he won national fame and which brought him the nomination for governor. Before these events he had been a deep-thinking, hard-working lawyer known more to lawyers than to laymen. Other attorneys sought his advice on tangled points. He had lectured on law at Cornell university and was looked upon somewhat as a professor in practice until he suddenly loomed up as a man of action.

One phase of Hughes' character is illustrated by his action on the Hearst bill providing for a recount of the ballots cast in the McClellan-Hearst majority election in New York, which Hearst claims he won, but was counted out. Hearst had been Hughes' opponent in the race for governor and had attacked him in many ways, constantly referring to him as an "animated feather duster." Yet Hughes recommended the passage of the bill. When he was counseled not to sign it, he replied decisively, "It is a simple act of justice," and thereupon affixed his signature to the bill, making it a law.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world. Sold under guarantee at all druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

COUNTY JUDGE

IS AMBITION OF COUNTY ATTORNEY ALBEN BARKLEY.

Youngsters Will Now Scramble for Position of County Attorney of Metracken.

Candidates for county office are budding on every corner and before many days there will be a full field in every race. County Attorney Alben Barkley, who has been considering the requests of friends to try for commonwealth's attorney, has decided to get in the running for county judge and so announced his intentions last night. This leaves an open field to a number of young attorneys who will try for the county attorney's office. Those who will certainly be in the race are S. E. Clay, A. E. Boyd, A. L. Harper and John G. Miller, Jr. Next to sheriff the office of county judge will be most sought for and a half score of good men will enter. R. J. Barber, C. W. Emery, Squire W. R. Hecker, Joe E. Potter, Cecil Reed and a number of others being spoken of as possible entries.

In the city election there will be a lively scrap for the office of city jailer. Patronman J. M. Prince and Don Marton, secretary of the Eagles' lodge, are the latest entries with several others considering the question of running for the office.

LOCAL OPTION WORSE.

Says President Liebmann, of Brewers' Association.

Milwaukee, June 10.—Brewers from all parts of the country are in Milwaukee to attend the forty-eighth annual convention, which opens in Milwaukee today. Between 600 and 700 delegates arrived and several more are expected before tomorrow.

President Julius Liebmann, of New York, at the head of a delegation of about 100 brewers arrived from New York during the day on a special train.

President Liebmann, in the course of an interview said: "The most important question before the convention of the United States Brewers' association is not prohibition but the local option laws. These laws will make it necessary for brewers, in self-protection, to get into politics."

National Secretary Hugh F. Fox, of the association, says that the greatest undertaking which the brewers will have to confront in fighting the prohibition wave will be to clean up the disreputable saloons. There is no use arguing the question of the brewers' responsibility for the things which exist, he added.

Daily Thought.

"Time is saved by spending it. The invested hours are the hours possessed. We can take into our lives, and keep, only the time that we have diligently employed."

NO COMPROMISE.

"If a delegate has been elected, he should be seated. If he has not been elected he should not be seated by a compromise."

These words were uttered by the most obstinate honest man in public life, when it was tacitly agreed among the leading Republican politicians and the other candidates for the presidential nomination that the remaining contests should be settled by compromise.

We recall some of our own observations early in the campaign, when it seemed to us from the manner in which Taft's native state and the section, which should naturally be his, were hemmed in by "favorite sons," that in the end it would be Taft against the field; and we declared our belief that the other candidates ultimately intended to pool their strength against him and throw what votes they could to the most likely one to defeat Taft.

It was not only admitted, it was charged that Taft was Roosevelt's choice and that Taft stood for all the policies of Roosevelt's administration; and it was patent that the choice of anyone of the other candidates, excepting Hughes, would mean a repudiation of Roosevelt's policies.

All this is now before us. Knox, Cannon and Fairbanks are combined. La Follette and Hughes have nothing to do with them. Taft has won; but with a majority already for him on first ballot the national committee goes on seating delegates pledged to Taft.

It may not have occurred to some newspaper editors and partisans, who look on the proceedings through prejudiced eyes, that the national committee may be seating the Taft delegates because they are entitled to the seats. Outside those states, from which Taft held his friends, because they had favorite sons, Taft has all the pledged delegates in the Republican states, and the presumption, if there is one, should be in favor of Taft. But after it was seen that he had a majority and the allies had swallowed their bluff to bolt, they asked for a compromise in the remaining contest. Whether this was to calm the ruffled temper of some defeated Foraker or Fairbanks district leaders, or to give color of sincerity to the whole contest, we can not say; we only know that Taft repelled:

"If a delegate has been elected he should be seated. If he has not been elected he should not be seated by a compromise."

That was after our own doughty senator-elect had been persuaded from carrying out his threat of "making a personal attack on the secretary which would be interesting because of its sensationalism if for no other reason."

Considering the character of Mr. Taft has evinced all through the long campaign, that was ill-advised. Mr. Taft has been under constant fire and on nothing's "cept de brack key."

administration Republicans for a year, and they have succeeded only in showing up his statesmanlike proportions and the impregnability of his character.

Apparently the allies have forgotten the lesson of the Ohio campaign, when the Mr. Foraker, who had forced the mighty Hanna to some terms, endeavored to force a compromise with "Taft" and was answered: "Some of my friends are friends of Mr. Foraker, and some of them are against him. I shall not presume to interfere with their freedom."

Mr. Taft didn't compromise with Foraker and he won't compromise with the Knox-Fairbanks-Cannon alliance. He has not interfered with the national committee in its work of ascertaining which delegates are entitled to their seats, and he declines to interfere now.

Even Mr. Bryan took a hand in attempting to embarrass Mr. Taft in regard to publicity of campaign contributions, only to be embarrassed himself by learning that Mr. Taft had already asked support for the measure without making campaign capital of it.

The Louisville Herald, which has become embittered toward the Republican city administration of Louisville, and is only tolerant of Governor Willson, has decided that Mr. Taft will be marked for slaughter by the defeated allies. We call the Herald's attention to the fact that Mr. Taft will not go before the country on the record of a petty political squabble of the allies' own making before the national committee, but on his own record in office, and the specific promises of his platform. That is all the American public is interested in.

Mr. Taft stands for those Rooseveltian policies, of which even Mr. Bryan covetously claims the authorship. Regardless of those factional disputes in the south, Mr. Taft carried nearly every Republican state and the nomination of any candidate other than him, or the adoption of a platform other than the one he indorses would be a repudiation of the policies that have proven popular during the last eight years, and would offer William Jennings Bryan the opportunity of adopting those policies and splitting the Republican party with them.

The nomination and election of a president of the United States are not accomplished by tricks of politicians or of orators. The man the people want will be elected, and when a man has gone through four years' trial in a conspicuous office, combining the duties of a secretary of war with those of a colonial secretary, and then had his record tested by the fire of twelve months' adverse criticism from the swiftest and most powerful combination of political interests in the country, his soundness is well known and he need shrink from no further ordeal.

Neither Senator-elect Bradley on the floor of the national convention, nor William Jennings Bryan on the hustings, can rake up anything new in the record of William H. Taft, that will not reflect credit on him. All the resources of envy, malice and chicanery have been exhausted already. Henceforth it must be a question of policies of government. If the people are satisfied with honest tariff revision, currency reform, conservation of natural resources, betterment of trade relations with South America and the Orient, increased merchant marine, development of waterways, regulation of railroads and trusts, pure foods and drugs, and the protection of workmen from aggression, Taft will be elected; if not, he will be defeated, and then and only then will the allies be able to say they were ever right.

The Louisiana Lily Whites got their's at the hands of the Republican national committee yesterday. There was no question that the Lily Whites were the regular delegates, but their conduct in debarring the negro from participation in the party convention was considered unfair, considering the fact that their votes are always accepted, and the committee chose this opportunity to rebuke the Lily Whites. That is all there is to the Louisiana compromise.

Contractors who get together and put in fake bids for bitulithic street improvements evidently assume that it is obligatory upon the city to contract street work, even though prices quoted are outrageously high. This is not the case, and while the present ordinance calls for the improvement of Jefferson street and Broadway either with brick, asphalt or bitulithic, the ordinance should be repealed and substituted so that improvements similar to the work on Harahan boulevard, with the addition of tar, may be made, and the city's money be made to go three times as far as it will, if such bids as are being offered are accepted. Louisville rejected asphalt bids last week at $1.88 because they were too high.

THE VANISHING FLEETS

By ROY NORTON

CHAPTER XI.

A King is Lost.

Wearied by hours of suspense, days of anxiety and nights of alarm, the king of England sought relaxation. A period of disaster had reached its culmination where nothing much worse might be predicted. Germany had other occupations than those of aggression, and was now distraught in its effort to find the missing ruler, from whom no word had been received and of whom no information had been obtained. The American dread had been soured for days, and the first grief for the loss of the great British fleet had lost its poignancy and was becoming only a bitter recollection to be calmly discussed and speculated upon. After weeks of storm and stress there had come a lull in which England waited for winds more kind.

London had lived so long in misery that it had become callous, hardened, and enveloped in an air of gloom, conditions resembling those of that period of terror which overspread it in the great plague, but which led men by work and pretense of gaiety to seek forgetfulness. Once more the music halls opened, the theaters made their announcements, signs appeared on the boardings and old habits began in a sort of half-hearted way to resume their sway.

In this epoch of abnormality the atmosphere joined and sent upon the huge city a June fog, which settled down in the night, adding its blackness to that of the hour. And through it in quest of relaxation rode England's king. On leaving the palace he had no definite plan or destination; but the glare of the theaters lured and beckoned insistently to their wealth of light and entertainment, and he yielded.

His coming was unheralded, and attention was attracted to the presence only when the manager, following time-established custom, which forbade the turning of one's back upon a king, preceded him with steady bows to the royal box and took his place beside the equester while the visitor entered. The blipdrome was to be honored. Within the box the royal guest seated himself behind the partially drawn curtains, where he could look out upon the bizarre performance and feel himself near a throng of persons. There was some satisfaction at least in mere proximity to companionship.

With languid interest and half absorption he glanced over the program, paying but small attention to what it contained. A herd of performing elephants galloped clumsily round in the ring below, obeying the shrill, nervous shouts of a woman clad in red tights, and then sedately marched out through an aperture by the side of the stage when the act was ended. A man clad in an ill-fitting dress suit, evidently the heritage from some predecessor, came to the front of the stage and began an ornate, rambling, and ungrammatical speech, announcing some wonderful exhibition which was about to take place. The monarch, suddenly aware of the voice, caught only the last words declaring it to be the "great event of the evening," and leaned back in his cushioned chair, his mind again reverting to the vicissitudes of government.

His reverie was disturbed by a conversation taking place at the door of his box. "The gentleman was very insistent that it should be delivered at once, otherwise I should not have brought it," he heard the manager of the theater say apologetically.

"Is there no place in the world where I can remain undisturbed?" the king muttered wearily, and then called aloud: "Send that note in, whatever it may be."

With a salute his equester handed him the message, which he idly held in his hand for a few moments before opening it, looking half abstractedly out of his box to where a man was being hoisted aloft and through an opening in the arched roof above. More or less indifferently he tore open the envelope and withdrew a card, at which he stared with a puzzled frown, as if doubting his senses. Surely this could be no jest. Upon it was scrawled:

"Admiral Robert Bevis of the United States navy desires a brief audience with his majesty upon matters which can be discussed in person only. If permissible, may he enjoy the seclusion of his majesty's box?"

Through the king's mind passed a succession of questions. What could this mean? Would anyone dare perpetrate a joke of this character, and if so who would have the temerity? Was it not an absurdity that Admiral Bevis should be here this night in a London theater when his country was at war and had practically thrown the gauntlet into the lists of the civilized world? It was impossible! But he would send for this individual who by his paltry ruse would infringe upon the privacy of a king and see for himself what sort of fool he was.

"Show him in!" he said to the equester.

ry, and then expectantly watched the door, wondering whether he was to face an adventurer or an imbecile. Between the king and the officer whose name appeared on the card was an intimacy of more than 30 years' standing. The name alone had sufficient weight to preclude the curt refusal of such an extraordinary request. If this was the friend of his younger days, nothing but an errand of the utmost importance could have induced him to seek an audience under such circumstances, and, on the contrary, if his visitor proved to be a nonentity or crank, the guard would give protection and summary punishment.

The door of the cabinet slid back, and a grim, scarred, weather-beaten man stood surrounded by the royal body guard. In utter astonishment that it should be the admiral standing before him, the sovereign rose from his seat and took a step forward.

They stood for a moment, the king and the admiral, and then slowly grasped each other's hand, casting the restraint of situation and the difference of position completely aside.

"Bevis," the monarch said, "for God's sake what brings you here in a time like this? Is there no limit to your daring, and nothing at which your country will hesitate? Do you come as a friend or as an American?"

"Both," answered the officer, standing squarely on his feet and looking steadily into the gray eyes, which persistently scrutinized him as if seeking to read the cause of his visit.

There came another instant's pause, and the king with a gesture invited him to be seated. The guard discreetly withdrew and closed the door of the cabinet.

Bevis continued: "I must apologize for intruding upon you; but I have journeyed a long way to deliver a message which permits of no delay."

"In an official capacity then?" queried the monarch dryly.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make to the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. W. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fine Cigars in a Fine Case

Portland, Ore., June 10.—The Oregon Democratic state convention met here, elected four delegates at large and two delegates from each congressional district and passed a resolution endorsing W. J. Bryan for the presidential nomination. The resolution directs the Oregon delegates to support of Mr. Bryan "so long as his name remains before the convention."

The convention was a love feast from beginning to end and there was no contest or delays. The platform expressed general satisfaction at the selection of Governor Chamberlain by the people of the state as nominee for United States senator, advocates reform in the postal laws, increases wages for letter carriers; favors enlarged powers for the interstate commerce commission; favors the endorsement of the Oklahoma banking laws, and direct election of United States senators.

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

ARE FIRE PROOF

That is another of their good features, an important one, as hundreds of fires occur annually from sparks settling on the roof.

Better put them on the roof now than wish you had later.

They're cheap enough. Last a life-time. Never need repairs, and they turn the appearance of any house into a home.

Come in and see them.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of MOTHER'S FRIEND before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. MOTHER'S FRIEND makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy.

Sold by druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

VETERANS HEAR GREAT ADDRESS

Prepared by Late Stephen D. Lee, Read at Reunion.

Southern Statesman in All His Antebellum Activity Will Come Again Is Belief Expressed.

HOPE EXPRESSED FOR SOUTH.

Birmingham, Ala., June 10.—At the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans here the address prepared by Commander-in-Chief Stephen D. Lee, which, by reason of his death on the eve of the reunion, was destined never to be delivered, was read today before the largest gathering of Confederate veterans in recent years, and is in part as follows:

"It is now fourteen years since the Confederate veterans enjoyed the hospitality of the magic city. We remember gratefully the courtesy of our former unsurpassed welcome, but today we are ready to believe that Birmingham can surpass itself. Then there was with us the incomparable Gordon, soldier, statesman and orator, who along with the valorous Longstreet and the gallant Wheeler were Alabama's Paladins in the armies of the Confederacy. It was from Alabama that Yancy's voice, like a silver trumpet, called the south to arms, with an eloquence more potent than Clan-Alpin's fiery cross. Alabama was the cradle of the Confederacy. Here was installed the provisional government of the new nation, and here her illustrious chief took the oath of office which no man but himself should ever take. And from Alabama came the great admiral who floated the stars and bars upon every sea and single-handed swept the nation's commerce from the waves.

"Since the war, I have heard many addresses to Confederate veterans. Our orators have been rich in arguments to demonstrate the correctness of states rights views, and the soundness of the interpretation of the constitution held by southern statesmen. They have displayed the firm historic basis of our political faith. They have spoken in comforting words of unexpected beneficent results of the war of the preservation of the rights of the states in the Union, of the discipline of adversity which prepared us to meet the terrible race problem with unflinching courage, indefatigable patience and united strength. They have taught us that the Lost Cause was not wholly lost, that the best fruits of the great conflict came to the south, when the master was freed from the slave, and the old leeches of sectional hate were set adrift in the warm gulf stream of a new national patriotism.

"Nevertheless it has not seemed the whole truth to me that the Confederate soldier went into battle to vindicate a constitutional argument. He went to war because he loved his people; because his country was invaded; because his heart was throbbing for his hearth stone. Here was the land which gave him birth. Here was the church-spire where he had learned it was not all of life to live, or all of death to die. No hostile foot shall ever tread this consecrated ground except over his dead body. It was the prospect of invasion that made the border states with bleeding hearts try to cast their lot with the Confederacy. He who could have expected a Lee to do battle against Virginia, or a Hampton to draw his sword against South Carolina, has never learned the language of the human heart. Nothing but the most devoted love of country could ever have sustained the Confederate soldier in his unequal and terrible struggle.

"Neither do I consider it necessary to find a reward for the Confederate soldier in unexpected good results of the great conflict. The reward of noble actions lie in the capacity to do them. The Confederate soldier who fought with unflinching courage had the reward of being a brave man. He who loved his country had the reward of being a true patriot. He who faced the cannon's mouth for those he loved dearer than life had the reward of being a hero. He who was faithful unto death had the reward of a stainless honor. What other course could a Southerner have taken?

"Behind him were the great traditions of his English race—where were Hastings and Cressy and Agincourt, there were Naseby, Blenheim and Quebec, there were King's Mountain and Valley Forge. In his veins flowed the blood of a thousand years of chivalry. He could face the line of fire, but not the shame of standing back.

All merit comes from facing the unequal; All glory comes from daring to begin. Fame loves the State That reckless of the sequel, Flights long and well, whether it loses or wins.

"The old masterful type of the southern statesman passed away with slavery. Whatever may be said of that institution, it trained men for leadership and government. The constant presence of the bondman wrought in the master a love of freedom and a sense of honor that will never be surpassed. Wonderful men those old southerners were; great in counsel, great in battle, but greater than all in the integrity which left no honor like a wound. They would have fallen upon the sordid plunderers which in later times have infested public life like Elijah upon the prophets of Baal. I cherish the hope that our southern blood will produce the type again—that with renewed prosperity we will again introduce into public life a class of men able and willing to devote themselves with pure and unwavering fidelity to the public service and free from the all-absorbing struggle for bread, which has been the portion of southern men for so many years. May it be the lot of our children to perform the duty of freedom in a republic, with as will 'tag hearts as ours, but at no such fearful cost.

"The reason why I have this hope that the old-time southerner shall live once more is because the southern boys love and cherish the deeds of their ancestors. They do not forget. The ideals of the fathers are read to the sons. The homage these young men pay to our old Confederates is sweet to our declining years, but sweetest of all, because it bespeaks a love for the dreams which we cherished and a willingness to die for them if need be.

"We old soldiers are sitting in the twilight of life waiting for the evening detail, waiting for the shining angel.

"With things like chevrons on his wings, 'Like a chevron on his wings' says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. 'I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since.' Sold under guarantee at all druggists. 50c.

He Got What He Needed. "Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at all druggists. 50c.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Paducah women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Paducah woman's words:

Mrs. Walter Mathews, 1250 North Thirtieth street, Paducah, Ky., says: "I used the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they did more to relieve me of a lame back and pain in my left side than all else I ever used. Before taking them I suffered intensely from pains in my back and sides; at times was hardly able to do my housework. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and procured a box at DuBois, Son & Co.'s drug store. I took them as directed and was more than pleased with the results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BOARD OF HEALTH

WILL HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION NEXT MONDAY, JUNE 15.

Question of Closing Up Old Wells Will Be Placed Before General Council.

The board of health will hold its annual election of officers next Monday, June 15. At the meeting of the board of health yesterday afternoon the board decided to meet with the general council at their special meeting, which the mayor will call about June 20, to discuss the question of having the wells filled up that are used in the district provided with water mains. The ordinance prohibiting the use of these wells was killed in the last meeting of the council. The board will do all in its power to have this ordinance passed, as they feel it is of great importance. Health Officer Graves stated to the board that all wells had been condemned by the medical profession backed by the state laws, as more diseases originate from drinking well water than any source. Two instances were mentioned in which persons had asked that their wells might be left open, as they had been used for 35 or 40 years and no one had ever been sick from drinking the water. On further investigation it was learned that seven in one family and eight in the other had died from diseases contracted from drinking well water.

Dr. Sights reported the unsanitary condition of the Jefferson school building. The board appointed Drs. H. P. Sights and J. G. Brooks as a committee of two to investigate the conditions of all the school buildings in the city not connected with the sanitary sewer. The board will request the school board to have these connections made in the course of the summer. They would have it done immediately but for the low finances of the board. Plumbers will be asked for the lowest price possible for this work.

Mayor Smith will take it upon himself to go to the Illinois Central shops and see about the enforcing the ordinance, requiring connection with the sanitary sewer.

Contractor George Weikel was granted more time to clear his ground located in the western part of town of weeds and rubbish.

The Tully Livery company reported that the nuisance in the rear of their stable at Fourth and Kentucky avenue had been removed.

Sanitary Inspector Galtier reported that out of 600 wells and cisterns condemned 121 had been filled up.

The members present were Drs. J. G. Brooks, H. P. Sights, C. H. Brothers, W. T. Graves and W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., and Mayor Smith.

Experiments With Tobacco.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 10.—R. C. West, a prominent tobaccoist, is engaged in an experiment which will probably go a long way toward solving the question of whether or not tobacco that has once been prized in the usual fashion can be torn apart and reprinted in the style required by the English government. If this experiment proves a success, it will probably mean that the English government will become a heavy buyer of tobacco from the Planters' Protective association, from which organization it has heretofore held aloof on the grounds that because it would not sell its tobacco loose, that it was unfit for their use.

Mr. West has received a trial order from English dealers on which he is making the experiment. He has fitted up a redrying house to which he takes the tobacco purchased from the association, and taking it out of the hogheads, separates each leaf and puts it through the treatment required to give it the English flavor, and then packs it again to suit that trade.

CHARGED WITH STEALING SKIFF FROM DUCK'S NEST.

John Bloodworth and Dave Stogal were arrested yesterday in Mound City, Ill., on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that four young men stole a skiff from Henry Brain from the "Duck's Nest," in the Tennessee river, and the skiff was floated to Mound City. Detective Moore and Brain followed the hds to Mound City, where they were overtaken. It is expected to have two more young men under arrest in a few hours for complicity in the alleged theft. The trial was continued in police court this morning until Friday morning. Stogal and Bloodworth say they will come clear of the charge.

BURGLARS

PROMISE THEMSELVES LIVELY TIME WITH LAUGHING WATER.

Steal a Hundred Dollars Worth of Clothing Before Going to the Ice Chest.

Burglars well experienced in their vocation entered the residence of Mrs. Kirk Barry, 621 Madison street, yesterday morning between 11 and 12 o'clock and stole about $100 worth of clothes. The robbery was discovered in the afternoon, and it was reported to the police about 3:30 o'clock. They are on the lookout for the clothes. Mrs. Barry and her daughter, Miss Mary Barry, were absent from home, and the burglars approached a side entrance, and after cutting a slit in the screen door raised the catch. The ice box was visited and the burglars helped themselves to several cold bottles of champagne. Feeling refreshed, the burglars opened a trunk that Miss Barry had packed for a summer trip and laid out every garment, selecting the best and carrying it away. A roomer was in the house at the time, but no noise was heard, and the neighbors did not see any one enter or leave the house. The screen door was a new one and the wire netting was cut with an ice pick.

Yesterday there were four people who had over 40,000 votes--now there are that many who have over 50,000 and a great many more who are climbing toward that mark as fast as the limit will allow. Seventeen voted all that was permitted yesterday and others cast such heavy certificates that the total number of ballots cast was more than 200,000. That isn't a high score for this contest but it is unusually high for the average of contests, especially at this stage of the game when hardly anyone has really warmed up to the pace set during the last half of the race. And the way the places changed around was something to look at and think about. Miss Ella Hill of District 1 passed Miss Elsie Hodge for the time being at least and leads the van, being closely followed by Miss Carrie Chiles of Metropolis, Ill., Miss Mern Nichols of District 2, and Miss Lura Street of Kevil, Ky. Five people in the third district voted the limit and advanced in a solid phalanx. Mr. Arthur Switzer, Miss Vera Dodson and Mr. J. H. Dugger being the ones besides those named above, so cast a heavy certificate ballot as a signal warning to those above him that he is in the race and may be expected to overtake some of them shortly. Relative positions in District 2 did not seem to change the three leaders being bent on staying just where they are, relatively speaking. They are distancing the others in a more noticeable manner than is the case in Districts 1 and 3. Even Numbers Win. A peculiar thing happened in District 1. The holders of the second, fourth and sixth places yesterday, each passed the voter above him and landed in the first, third and fifth places. As a result of this maneuver Miss Ella Hill, Mr. Joe Desberger and Mrs. Ha Rose have passed in turn. Miss Elsie Hodge, Miss Marian Noble and Mr. Myrt Ratcliffe. These shifts may be regarded as purely temporary, however. Up today and down tomorrow is the motto of the contest. After the Special. Everybody wants a special. The announcement that The Sun gave twice the value advertised as the special prize for last week caused considerable favorable comment among the contestants and their friends. The statement that the same thing will be done this week if two people tie, or nearly tie, for the first place adds a little speculative value to the already worth-working-for $30 in furniture which F. N. Gardner, Jr. Co., have offered to the winner of this week's sport. It's just as well to annex the special while you are on your way toward the finish and the big stakes that are lined up beyond the wire. Besides you get an enormous number of votes when you make an effort for a special that you would not have secured if you had not appreciated it as a stepping stone to greater things. Moreover, there are a lot of bonus votes to be won if you go after them. Three thousand for every $25 you turn in. There is no competitive bonus. You are sure of what you are going to have in the way of addition at ballots when you turn your cash in. Don't have to wait for the contest man to compare your returns with those of the other candidates except for the matter of the special. She Has the Spirit. A lady in a little town near Paducah wrote the contest man a very short note the other day. She said: "Yours received. Thanks for bonus. Will write more after the contest is over. I'm busy now."

And then she signed her name. The contest man likes to get letters and appreciates a good one when he gets it. But that one takes the blue ribbon for crowding more of real meaning and determination into a few abrupt sentences than any other ever received. The lady has the proper spirit. She's busy and she won't be sorry she has been busy when the votes are counted on July 4th.

Who Are Eligible?

Any white person, man or woman, of good character, residing in the territory covered by The Sun may become a candidate for the honors and the prizes in The Paducah Sun's Greatest Popularity Contest.

District 1 comprises all of the city of Paducah north of Broadway, including the north side of Broadway. District 2 comprises all of the city of Paducah south of Broadway, including the south side of Broadway. District 3 comprises all of the territory served by The Sun outside the limits of the city of Paducah.

More Than $2,000 in Prizes. Following is a description of the magnificent list of prizes offered for the winners in this contest together with the arrangement governing their distribution.

The candidate securing the highest number of votes, regardless of district, will be given The First Grand Prize, a $700 double building lot in Gregory Heights, Paducah's prettiest suburb.

The candidate securing the second highest number of votes, regardless of district, will be given The Second Grand Prize, a $400.00 two-carat, blue-white diamond, on display at Jo Wolf's jewelry store, 327 Broadway.

After the judges of the finish of the contest have awarded the Grand Prizes, the names of the two winners will be stricken from the list of contestants and the nine district prizes will be awarded as follows:

The three persons who lead their respective districts will be awarded a $300 piano, on display at W. T. The above three prizes will be given to the three district leaders in the order of the number of votes credited to them.

The three persons who receive the second highest number of votes in their respective districts will be awarded the following prizes in their order of rank--a $65 watch on display at Pollock's, 333 Broadway, a $50 lady's or man's watch at Nagel and Meyer's, corner Third and Broadway, a $50 Miller range, displayed at Hank Bros., 212 Broadway, should necessity demand.

Contestants may secure subscriptions anywhere they wish. For instance a candidate in District 3 is entitled to turn in subscriptions from District 2 or District 1, and vice versa.

New subscribers are those who were not taking The Sun May 23, the date of the start of the contest. Transfer from one member of a family to way.

L. Wanner's, 311 Broadway.

In addition the management of The Sun will spend $100 in special prizes to be distributed to busy candidates during the progress of the contest, making a grand total of more than $2,000 in prizes, to be distributed gratis.
